

The Civil War Has Begun

© 2019 Joel Goodman

From Twitter: US News: Wednesday May 5,

The New York state Senate passed two laws targeting Trump's pardon power and tax returns on Wednesday, including one allowing Trump's state tax returns to be shared with congressional committees in the context of a formal investigation. The second law alters double jeopardy rules to allow New York to bring state-level charges against those who receive a presidential pardon.”

New York State may as well have fired on Fort Sumter. It is that obvious that we are now in a civil war. The two political sides have reached an impasse as great as that in 1861. There is no longer any possibility of a coming together. The Leftist Democrats want the country for themselves, and they are seemingly willing to do whatever is necessary to accomplish that.

This war was started by the same Democrats who incessantly talk about saving our Democracy. Not only are the two laws just passed in New York Draconian, but even worse is the representative thrilled reaction on Twitter by America hating and Trump hating people. Those tweets reflect the opinions of about half of the voting citizens, and non-citizens, of the United States.

The news media will undoubtedly soon put a positive spin on this vote, reaching more of the uninformed masses – who only seem to have blood in their eyes when it comes to President Trump and the Republicans, and are sated only when there is some attempt to harm the President.

The New York Senate legislation now goes to the state Assembly. Governor Cuomo has made it clear that he would sign the bills.

It is almost incredulous that a state legislature would pass laws tailored to target the President of the United States. But it is now happening in several states with voting law changes.

The people who are thrilled with these two laws, intentionally targeting the President, are as absolutely willing to sacrifice the true administration of justice as easily as the sacrifice made by a Japanese Kamikaze pilot crashing into a US Navy ship off of Okinawa in 1945.

Some of you may have thought that the conclusion of the Mueller investigation would end the Leftist political insanity. Well, think again. It is only going to get worse.

In the event that Trump is re-elected, it would appear that the only remaining option for the Leftists to accomplish their goal of bringing down this administration is for them to be willing to put their lives on the line. It would not be the first time in history that a mania has driven a populace to violence. We did have a Civil War. Remember, the riots of the 1960's and the more recent riot in Ferguson, Missouri. There are already organized mobs like BLM and Antifa, among others, roaming the streets.

At this point, with states trying to unilaterally end the Electoral College, with Hillary Clinton who actually tried to steal the 2016 election running around saying the election was stolen from her, with Stacey Abrams saying she didn't lose her election, with Senator Hirono going off on an absolutely desultory (and self degrading) tirade against AG William Barr, with states passing election laws prohibiting presidential candidates who have not released their Federal Tax Returns from being on the 2020 ballot, with the House Judiciary Committee voting to hold the AG in contempt for actually following Congressionally made laws about privacy, with the Democratically led House completing denying the results of the two year investigation into the President, with the news media cheering them on in this denial – we are seeing half of the country, bereft of morality and sanity, dedicated to destroying this country any way they can.

Sadly and dangerously, like the Kamikaze pilot believing that what he was about to do would lead him on a path to glory – the Democrats are willing to sacrifice an entire country to bring down President Trump and bring America into the Leftist / Globalist fold.

Bellow is the “commentary” by the New York State Attorney General, Letitia James, among those on Twitter applauding this move. One has to ask, “What law books did she study?”

I applaud the @NYSenate's passage of my & @toddkaminsky's bill to close the double jeopardy loophole in NY. The legislation upholds the standards of fairness & justice at the core of the double jeopardy law, and prevents it from being used as a tool to deny justice altogether.

The bill embodies a central component to the foundation of our democracy: The President – unlike a monarch or authoritarian dictator – is not above the law and our laws should apply to all people of this nation equally, including and especially our leaders.

One truly has to wonder if elected officials like Letitia James are that willing to blatantly mis-characterize the truth just to incite and activate their voters, who un-wittingly believe what is said, or are they truly that ignorant?

Read for yourself some of the other comments; your fellow citizens – read and weep.

Very very bad day for Trumps-Thanks to NY State moves on closing the pardon loophole and offering up tax returns to the Congress if they want 'em and then the subpoena for Don Jr. where his obvious lying under oath to Congress is on the agenda plus the Barr contempt citation.

JUST IN: Trump is now under real pressure from the NY Legislature. • State Senate passed a bill to create a path to release his state tax returns. • It passed another bill to curtail the impact of presidential pardons in NY. (Re Manafort.)

The New York Senate just passed the TRUST Act, which would let NY's tax commissioner release any state tax return requested by one of three congressional committees. In other words, Congress is a step closer to getting Trump's taxes.

The NY Senate also approved a second bill that allows NY to pursue state charges against close associates of the president who receive pardons for the same federal offenses. However, it cannot be used retroactively against, say, a Paul Manafort.
