

IMPEACHMENT 101

©2019 Joel Goodman

The Democrats have been yelling “impeachment” from day one of Trump’s Presidency. In fact they began yelling impeachment before he was elected.

The first impeach Trump website, impeachtrump.com was registered: January 15, 2011 and impeachtrumpnow.org was registered: December 01, 2015.

Trump became the assumed President Elect on November 8th, 2016.

One can’t impeach a President for acts committed before they are in office; so, why did the incessant impeach rhetoric begin immediately after the election?

To actually remove a President from office requires both the House and the Senate.

Article 1, Section 2 – “The House of Representatives shall ... have the sole Power of Impeachment;” Section 3 - The Senate shall have the sole Power to try all Impeachments. ... And no Person shall be convicted without the Concurrence of two thirds of the Members present.

Article 2, Section 4 – “The President, Vice President and all civil Officers of the United States, shall be removed from Office on Impeachment for, and Conviction of, Treason, Bribery, or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors.

Assuming that all 46 Democrats and the two independent Senators would vote for Conviction, and of the 52 Republicans maybe 5 might “defect,” that would yield a vote of 53 to 47 in favor of impeachment – 13 short of the required (66) two thirds majority needed to convict.

So, if the Democrats know that conviction is impossible with a majority Republican Senate, one must ask why the call for impeachment, since the President will not be convicted?

The answer is and has been rather clear since the beginning - to thwart Trump's re-election.

If we look at what Trump represents we find strong support for the Leftists to get rid of Trump. Trump represents America; the America in which most Americans grew up, and the America most still love; a flawed but wonderful nation.

But, America is different from the vast Socialist, Globalist controlled world.

Trump is a nationalist. His stance on nationalism is opposed by tremendous forces around the world. He is not alone in his quest for national reemergence. We have seen the struggle for national independence play out in England, where a majority of Britains voted to leave the EU. That struggle has forced PM Teresa May to resign because she was seen as too weak in her stance to leave the EU regardless of a "soft exit" deal or not. There are movements in Sweden, Italy, and Hungary. Even the lost conflict in the Ukraine was about not succumbing to globalist EU economic policies.

Trump's disruptive potential appeared on the radar as early as 2011, when the first impeach Trump website was registered. By 2015 it became obvious that he was serious about running. Once Trump won, the movement to impeach went into high gear.

The Globalists need to stop Trump – ergo, Leftist / Progressive / Globalist George Soros has been involved in funding from Ukraine's Maidan Revolution to the Brexit Re-Vote campaign. The Democrats have been trying to undermine traditional America from within with unbridled immigration. Future demographics based on the current rate of influx of illegal aliens and future illegal alien births, will not allow for a sustainable republican form of government; a much more socialized government being the only solution that would support the un-aculturated mega millions who will eventually vote and will need and demand continuing government assistance to exist.

Trump's signature immigration stance, is closely aligned with the growing opposition to open borders in Europe, but is anathema to the open borders crowd in America. His alliance with the mood and political sentiments of much of the world outside the U.S. is evidenced by the results of the just held EU elections, which saw the brand new British Brexit Party win an unexpected large 32% plurality over the other four parties, including the ruling Conservatives, and Hungary's Pro-Christian Culture anti-immigration Fidesz Party that won with a 52% majority.

Since Trump wasn't stopped by a two year witch hunt, he must be stopped at the next presidential election; before he is able to align the United States with those European states promoting nationalism and balking at open borders and unlimited immigration. Those on the Left who thought that after President Obama the movement towards an U.N. run globalist order was a fait accompli are in complete emotional and strategic disarray, and are using whatever tactics they can to get rid of this straight talking American political interloper.

The move to impeach at its core is something that allows Donald Trump to be portrayed as a most terrible human being – the more terrible the better.

If we look at Joe Biden's campaign pitch: "Make America Normal Again," the obvious inference is that under trump, America is abnormal. The cry for impeachment is all about making Trump appear to be a social pariah. It is about portraying him as an abhorrent aberration, mentally unhinged, a crooked deceitful monster – a usurper who is undermining this country for his own profit. Many Liberals are already convinced that Trump is crooked. The cry for impeachment is about hammering home the message so that more and more people believe it; and of course, the media is promoting that message with most outlets running stories as high as 95% negative about Trump; presenting impeachment stories in ways that would lead someone to believe that the fate of a democratic America is at stake.

The Chairman of the House Intelligence Committee, Adam Schiff, like many other Democrats and news people, has gone so far as to completely invert the truth, saying “That while Trump stonewalls the public from learning the truth about his obstruction of justice, Trump and Barr conspire to weaponize law enforcement and classified information against their political enemies.”

If it weren't so heinously outrageous it would be laughable and farcical, that a member of Congress, imbued with a certain grant of power would accuse the President of committing certain illegal actions widely known to have been committed by his own Party over the past several years.

It was the Obama Administration that weaponized law enforcement against its political enemies; using the IRS to target conservative Tea Party leaders, and allowing the DOJ to use the Clinton campaign's bogus dossier to serve as the basis for spying on the Trump campaign.

The actions of the Democrats have gone beyond brazen. It goes beyond a freshman Congresswoman, on the floor of Congress, calling the President a Motherfucker who should be impeached. For two years the Democrats have been trying to label the President as mentally unbalanced, unfit to hold office. They arranged for a group of psychologists who have never met the President to declare him unbalanced and unstable. As if to try and top that, the Democrats have released a “report” that more than one thousand former Federal prosecutors have declared that President Trump has, in fact, committed the crime of Obstruction of Justice. The Speaker of the House has on several occasions impugned the President's behavior as irrational; and recently she suggested that the President's family or staff should “have an intervention for the good of the country.” As if that weren't enough, she has stated that wants to see the President in prison. Whether or not that happens, for the moment, is less important than the idea and the image of the President as a convicted felon circulating in the media and in susceptible voters' minds.

Everything that is being done is to create whatever aura of doubt over the competence of the President; a man who has been fighting for his survival for two years against greater odds than any other President has ever faced; and while under pressure and disloyalty from the Democrats in Congress, the liberal media and the federal bureaucracy, he has managed to put the country on a more sound path than it has been on in almost half a century.

Most Liberals do not listen to right wing talk radio or read non-liberal publications. There are intelligent, generally well informed people who, when it comes to Donald Trump, know only what they have learned from the likes of CNN, CNBC and the NY Times.

In fact, if you have a discussion with many liberals who despise Trump and begin to explain the situation from a point of view that differs from theirs, they will blatantly tell you they are 'not interested in your point of view.' The Left does not want to hear anything the Right has to say.

The impeachment movement is about reaching out to the Democratic base and to as many liberal leaning Independents as can be reached. The attempt to get Trump's taxes and personal information needs a justification. The Democrats are hoping that their continuing House investigations will serve as that justification in the courts. The goal is to find anything that can potentially embarrass or expose some idiosyncrasy in Trump's wide ranging business dealings; anything that will make him seem more imperfect and less successful. Merely claiming that Trump needs to be investigated further, or that his taxes need to be examined, or especially that he deserves to be impeached casts a shadow of doubt over him in the minds of millions of people.

The Democrats will keep the impeachment hearing going until the 2020 elections, because the pronouncement of a need to impeach is where the damage to Trump will be done. If the House does complete the impeachment hearing and actual articles of impeachment are drawn up and sent to the Senate, even a not “guilty verdict” will be challenged as being rigged, especially if the vote is actually 51 to 49 in favor of conviction. A simple majority vote to convict would allow the Democrats to claim, just like the claim of the 2016 election having been “stolen”, that Trump should have been convicted because a Senate majority voted for his conviction.

In my estimation, only if the Democrats know they will have at least three Republican defections will they allow the vote to be brought to the Senate. The greater harm will continue to be done in calling for Trump’s impeachment and what collateral damage the media can do in reporting the continuing impeachment story.