

C I V I L W A R ?

© 2020/12/12 Joel Goodman

I'll take the odds.

If the effete seven on the Supreme Court thought they were preventing riots and civil unrest by declining to hear the Texas lawsuit and kicking the can down the road, they have instead just kick-started a full-blown revolution.

Rather than a mixed bunch of paid thugs and semi-maniacal rioters taking to the streets and burning down scattered cities in protest of Trump remaining in office, there is now half a country thoroughly disgusted and pissed-off. Among those many millions are many veterans who know what combat is like, and will be teaching the lessons of war to others when the violent dissent begins. Among those willing students are some very well armed, ready to be trained Americans.

Rather than there being a Congress that can be trusted with protecting the rights of Americans, the Republican Congress has just shown itself to be worthless in defending the one man in our lifetime who has stood up for the average American and for American values. The Senate Republicans showed they weren't willing to proclaim that the election was fraudulent and do whatever was necessary to get state Republicans to hold serious hearings and act upon them. They showed that they aren't even willing to protect the names of military bases and throttle back the big tech on-line censors. Republican Congressional inaction has engendered within many Americans a feeling that they can't be depended upon to protect their liberty.

When will the civil war begin? I don't know exactly. But, for a timeline - let's assume that because the Leftists are now so emboldened that they have gotten away with four years of lies and have successfully stolen the republic with a fraudulent election in broad daylight – they may just figure they can pursue the rest of their agenda full speed ahead with no interference from docile polite Americans.

Let's assume the lock-downs and the destruction of the middle class grows exponentially, spurred on by the introduction of millions upon millions of "immigrants" receiving federal money.

The growing debt will soon explode as the dollar's value dwindles, resulting in life savings becoming worthless. As the Left pushes the middle class more and more into a financial corner, there will come a time when there is no more room to retreat, and even those predisposed to polite suffering will have had enough. Once the middle class protests, that have already begun over the hypocritical shutdowns, grow larger and more organized, the organized Leftist mobs will respond with reciprocal force, and actual class warfare will begin. Depending upon how many middle class Blacks feel the same threat to their lives as middle class Whites, and join those opposing tyranny and reach out to their Black brothers, proclaiming that all Americans have a stake in this fight, race warfare stirred up by the Left might or might not begin.

The federal storm troopers will be marching through the suburbs en masse – rounding up gun owners and "agitators" who didn't take the threat seriously enough to organize into militias; and therefore while resistance will be bloody, it will be futile in many places.

At some point, people in un-defendable enclaves who are serious about resisting will seek safer areas, and as they move about, months of guerrilla warfare will begin. The fight will shift into holdout states where patriots will be able to organize. At that point it is anybody's guess as to what will happen; an entrance by the UN on the side of the Leftist Washington government is possible; the introduction of many thousands of Chinese troops to protect the cities and attack holdout states is also possible. The Federal government will certainly organize and arm groups like BLM and ANTIFA into legal Leftist militias to counter the "illegal" American citizen militias that form.

Fantasy? Not really. The Left will not stop. The only way they will stop is if they are stopped, and that doesn't look likely in today's America where too many people still don't see the threat. Even after four years of blatant disrespect for the rule of law by those about to seize power – too many Americans still trust that the Federal government will ultimately be on their side.

-30-